Interassistance in technology management

📄 Nerli Vieira 📷 Djalma Fonseca

The Interassistance Technology Commission (ITC) is launching projects that will optimize the processes and the management of conscientiocentric institutions. In total, at least 19 projects are underway with new technologies in a collaborative environment, which have everything to streamline and qualify the activities of ICCCI volunteers. In March, projects of Process Management are being launched and the works of the CCCI's computer network room are being completed. Then comes the deployment of ICNet, says Adélio Conter, one of the team coordinators.

The projects here launched show that the ICT is being a gradual construction, creating credibility in each closed project and giving continuity to them. The computer network went to modern and updated fiber optic structure of the Cognópolis, with greater connection speed. Today it is coordinated by Djalma Fonseca and has direct support from Discernimentum that has provided a room for this purpose.

Adélio Conter, a graduate in Mining Engineering, Computer Specialist and Master in Business Administration, coordinates the team, from here in Foz do Iguaçu, together with the volunteer Ana Catarina Lima Silva, a graduate in Computer Science and a Master in Business Administration, who lives in Belo Horizonzonte. It is a team of info-communicologists with a peculiar characteristic, since the 20 volunteers act at distance in diverse places of Brazil and also in Portugal.

The ICT coordinators report that the Process Management projects will be expanded in 2019. The ICNet project, for example, which will integrate many development initiatives into several CIs, after almost a year of work, is in the beginning phase of the tests of the pilot version in CEAEC and Reaprendentia. Another 8 business process projects are identified for UNICIN and 1 for the IIPC. Among UNICIN's, there is the pre-project elaboration of new ICs that, although already existing, lacked the modeling of steps. Now in March, ITC itself begins the project of incorporating the new institution, using the modeling of steps in its pre-project.

Created in 2012 from the departure of the company that managed the ICCC internet cable network, the commission holds weekly meetings at distance and is structured today within UNICIN who manages and strongly supports the creation of these IT projects, which are priorities for the ICCC.

"We have been working for more than 10 years in these computer technology projects, because the ITC base was a group of infocommunicologists from the Holo-cycle, that exists since 2008. And before this beginning, several volunteers, like Roberto Almeida and Ruy Bueno, already were developing projects like Holo-server, and we inherited this legacy to give continuity", clarifies the coordinator of the groups.

The synergy perceived by the ITC intraphysical team is to be in tune with the extraphysical team of infocommunicology. "The projects now launched show that the initial bases for the arrival of more members have already been created. Build and they will come, but you have to divulge it as well", the ECP2 extraphysical team responded to Adélio's questioning. "This is an extremely relevant role as the clarification of people is becoming more and more technological. Technology is a mere means, but it can intrude people who do not know how to use it. Technology is extraphysical, it emulates the extraphysical, where thought is action. Do not be enchanted by technology itself, but by the results. Prioritize those who will reach the greatest number of consciousnesses", was the response in another ECP2 in Campo Grande / MS in December 2017.

"It is necessary that the key people come to engage in this work front, giving resources and support to the assistance possibilities requested by the helpers, no matter where they are living on the planet," reinforces Ana Catarina, in order to invite the infocommunicologists to engage in this job that has in-tune volunteers and coordination, even residing in different places.

Journal in other languages

Nerli Vieira Layout Jornal

The Cognopolis Journal increases its coverage with online publications in English, Spanish and Italian, as well as in Portuguese. The editions can be accessed in the Fanpage of the Jornal da Cognópolis, the website of the Cognopolitan Institute of Geography and Statistics (ICGE): www.icge.org.br, in Digital Memory of the ICCCI and, soon, on the Portal of Conscientiology (www.conscienciologia.org.br). In addition, printed editions in the 4 languages are available for reading at the Holotheca tables at CEAEC.

Broadening the information to the wider public is possible thanks to the support of volunteer translators who strive to bring news so the activities that spawn science conscientiology come to other cultures. Maria Cristina Nieves, a native of Argentina, has been translating the newspaper into the Spanish language since the 20th edition. However, only now we could materialize the diagram in a foreign language. Sandra Yatra Wuhrmann, a Brazilian resident in Switzerland, started translating in Italian. In the translation into English, we had the collaboration of Liliana Alexandre, Portuguese, and recently by Sérgio Fernandes, from the Internationalizing Conscientiology (ISIC) team. Read, share and share information about our activities!

Condominiums close to CAEC integrate services

Rosane Amadori Niciano Vilas Boas

A breakfast of fellowship among the residents, held on March 17, marked the integration of neighborhoods of Cognopolitan neighbors to CEAEC. Integration - a suggestive name to consolidate the grouping - was the last to join the other three already grouped - Serenology, Cosmoethics and Evolution - forming a housing complex of 140 residents.

With integration, services and expenses will be shared, in addition to the entrance of the residents, which for security will be done through the gate of Serenology, on Cosmoética street. "Security was the greatest motivation and will be one of the biggest gains with the grouping, along with the professionalization of services," says the manager Jackeline Bitencourt de Lima, who now answers for the Integrated Conscientiological Condominiums. Residents are already thinking of new joint improvements, such as the implementation of specific software for administration and communication among condominium residents

On schedule, reactivation of the Council of 500

 Rosane Amadori  Alexandre Balthazar

The Conscientiological Areopagus, a space for free manifestation of Cognopolitans, proposed by the Collegiate of Conscientiology, will bring the theme "Reactivation of the Council of 500" to the next meeting on April 13. Synchronously, the topic was debated on March 14, at the Tertulium, with the verbete 'History of the Council of 500', defended by Professor Marlene Roque.

Proposed by doctor Waldo Vieira, the Council of the 500 is a deliberative instance created according to the administrative system of Athens, in the period of Ancient Greece (Century VI a.c.). The model draws on pure democracy, the management system of advanced extraphysical communities, based on linear participation in collective decisions.

The agency was formalized in February 2010, initially with 241 participants. As the name says, it provided training with 5 hundred participants and reached 391 members in 2013, but was disbanded the following year, interrupting the training.

Waldo Vieira's proposal was to build the 500 square, in the shape of an agora, an open amphitheater with room for the 500 members, called by doctor 'concept-conceptacle of advanced parapoliticology', also to evoke the holothosene of Greece. The project was designed by the architect, and now a member of the College of Conscientiology, Alexandre Balthazar.

"He said that the place should not be used to discuss many problems, but rather to go to 'the ends' and resolve all issues of the neighborhood. He wanted him to be in front of Felipe Wandscheer Avenue, for everyone to see the example of pure democracy", says Marlene Roque.

According to Balthazar, the theme 'Reactivation of the Council of 500' was suggested for the Conscientiological Areopagus in the visits that the Council made to the Conscientiocentric Institutions (ICs). "There is a ranking and the top 5 topics are taken to the choice of participants."

The author exposes in detail materializations that have caused great repercussions and makes a journey back in time transporting the reader to the most prolific ectoplasm experiments of the early twentieth century in Paris.

I VISITED CEAEC

📷 Rosane Amadori 📷 CEAEC

"It was a very good experience. As I already knew, it was like returning to a place of peace where I felt happy to be back and excited to know that it was going to be another day of learning. And it was!!! I was invited by a friend couple, Cristina Bornia and Leonardo Ribeiro, and I came along a friend, Alynne Cabral, with whom I had already commented on my experiences at CEAEC. We participated in a Morning Tertulia with the title: 'Indications of a Serenissimus in Australia and Associated Theories'. I found it very interesting, I recalled moments of my life where the context fit: when I want to be neutral, not to speak my opinion, and just listen. Is this being a serene person, knowing how to listen more than talk? Another topic that caught my atten-attention was on the street name, read the board and think 'That's a positive sign. It means maybe I'm on time and in the right place.'

We were referred to the Holoteca and we were amazed by the collection of dictionaries and the organization of the place.

We were referred to the Holoteca and we were amazed by the collection of dictionaries and the place's organization. At the Holocycle, we met the collections of books and some books of Waldo Vieira's collection.

After lunch, we went to Consecutivus and watched the presentation of the research: 'Egypt: a retrocognitive trip', where Aline Izidoro and Roberto Leimig told about the experience of getting to know Egypt. After a very cozy coffee break, we returned to CEAEC and still had time to take a presentation at the Peace Monument and meet friends and other medical students from the same university we studied in Paraguay.

It was a Sunday with information from different cultures, from different countries, a wonderful experience because I have always been curious to know a little about each country. We also saw the flowering orchids high in the trees scattered around the center, several vibrant colors and different species, a spectacle of nature." Verônica Cristiane de Sousa, 31 years old
