

News on the radio

 Rosane Amadori

Radio RCI (Iguaçu Communicator Network), under the coordination of the International Association for the Expansion of Conscientiology (AIEC), has had several releases and changes in its programming in recent weeks. Most of the attractions are conscientiologically designed and are conducted by volunteers from the conscientiocentric institutions (CIs), bringing approaches from the different Conscientiology specialties.

Last December, RCI had nine programs produced in Foz. With the changes, the grid now has 16 local programs, including also those of journalistic nature and other productions.

The slogan 'RCI, always by your side' has been expanded so that the acronym RCI is synonymous, also, of 'Radio of Community Iguaçu'. "The idea is for Foz do Iguaçu and the region to listen to RCI," says the programming director Guilherme Wojciechowski.

According to Wojciechowski, the radio structured its grid and began to concentrate the local programs on peak-time audience schedules, in the morning and in the beginning of the afternoon.

Thus, from Monday to Friday, from 8 am to 12 noon, the station maintains only content produced in the city. In this movement, the time from 01 pm and 02 began to be occupied by weekly programs. And here comes most of the new attractions, as well as some reshuffles of schedules.

Between March and April, the contents of the Paralaw program (JURISCONS), Cosmoethical Connection (COSMOETHOS) and Parapsychism in Focus (AS-SIPI) were started. In addition, two more are due in the next few weeks: one on leaderlogy and the Evolutionary Char, presented by the International Institute of Projectiology and Conscientiology (IIPC).

On Saturdays, the local grid that ended at 12:30 pm was extended until 3:00 pm In addition to the programs that were already on the air, the Life Project (Apex) entered the program.

Evolutionary Chat

Among the new features of RCI's programming is the Papo Evolutivo (Evolutionary Chat) program, a production of the IIPC volunteers scheduled to air on in early May. The attraction aims to reach audiences who do not know Conscientiology, betting on more colloquial language, on interlocution and relay of the presenters and, also, on the interactivity with listeners and Internet users.

The program will last one hour on Tuesdays, and will address topics related to daily life. "The proposal is a light and relaxed format that invites people to seek answers to their questions on everyday issues, global events and relationships, among others," said one of the presenters, Lane Gaudino.

Listen

The programs can be accompanied by Foz do Iguaçu directly by radio, by dial 1320 AM, and from anywhere on the planet by the Always RCI application or by Facebook (/sempreci). The podcasts of the programs are available to be heard and downloaded on the radio website:

Neologism proéxis arouses curiosity in the cinema

 Nerli Vieira  Maria Paula's Archive

The film 'De Pernas Pro Ar 3', a long released April 11, directed by filmmaker Júlia Rezende, features a scene with actresses Ingrid Guimarães (Alice), a self-sufficient and workaholic female character and Maria Paula Fidalgo (Marcela), advising her friend to relax, to meditate and to try to discover what the "proxies" Alice has to fulfill in this life. And, of course, Alice's reaction is one of ignorance and curiosity about the meaning of this term.

"My intention is to bring the subject to the general public in a light and fun way. So whoever is prepared will research and engage spontaneously in the studies of Conscientiology. And anyone who is not, will just have a good laugh", says actress Maria Paula, who is also a graduate in psychology and has been visiting the Center for Higher Studies of Conscientiology in Foz do Iguaçu.

"I consider a historical moment in Conscientiology because it is the first time that a conscientiological neologism is mentioned in the cinema and in a fiction film.

This moment in this comedy, with the participation of the artist Maria Paula, in which her character speaks of intermission, using the term proéxis, is the password or will work as a password for many people, being a specific neologism of existential programming" commented Laênio Loche, founder and volunteer of the International Association for Existential Programming (APEX), founded in 2007, to stimulate debate and research on personal and group life goals.

And really, already in the first week-end of the film's screening the searches for the term proéxis in Google have doubled. The term is an abbreviation of the words existential programming (pro + exis) which means planning during the intermissive period, between one life and another, before the individual is reborn in the current intraphysical life. ## UNICIN brings together professionals to think about ICCC communication

 Nerli Vieira  Press Release

The Intercommunication Council of UNICIN, fulfilling its agglutinating role in relation to communication in the ICCC, will hold the II SUMMIT of Communication on May 04 and 05, 2019. The idea is to create a Communication Forum to share communication projects and marketing in progress at the ICCC.

"The purpose is to bring together the people who produce content in the ICCC, the managers of the CIs and communication coordinators for a group recognition of the projects and communication strategies," says Jair Rangel, Coordinator of the Intercommunication Council, who took on this function in October 2018 "After an initial diagnosis of the situation of communication in the conscientiological community, two aspects drew attention: the Conscientiology Portal and the Conscientiology entry on Wikipedia" explained the journalist.

With activities suspended since 2018, the Conscientiology Portal is being restructured by a multidisciplinary team coordinated by Jair and 7 other volunteers who work at distance. The project provides editorial, visual and strategic reformulation, enabling daily deliveries of information, news and disclosures. The estimate is that, by July, the Portal will be operational again, informs the coordinator.

From this second Summit, we intend to invest in the creation of other capacity building projects, such as social media management, content marketing, YouTube, communication and marketing metrics, news and technology solutions. Communicators and experts in the field are invited to participate and sign the materthosene to serve volunteers, intermissivists who are coming and independent researchers.

Interparadigmas in Moscow

 Rosane Amadori  Press Release

The editor of the journal Interparadigmas, Alexandre Zaslavsky, presented the publication to Russian institutions, among them the Lomonosov Scientific Library, of Moscow State University. The Journal is annually periodical and receives articles from doctors with themes that relate Conscientiology to different lines of knowledge. The publication was created with the purpose of making interlocution with other sciences. Interparadigmas extended the term for receiving articles until May 31. Anyone who wants to submit papers can send an email to: interparadigmas@gmail.com. # Pre-IC Planetary Responsibility in TEDx

 Rosane Amadori  Press Release

With the theme 'Planetary responsibility, the future in the present', Professor Luciana Ribeiro participated in the TEDx promoted by the academics of the Federal University of Latin American Integration (UNILA). The event was broadcast live on Saturday, April 13, at Cineteatro Barrageiros, at Itaipu Power Plant.

The term TED designates a conference model created for the purpose of sharing information through talks, or conversations. The TED talks are short, 18-minute lectures, structured to draw attention to a single topic and transmitted online. The TED modality originated in Silicon Valley, California, and the first broadcast had topics related to technology, entertainment and design, terms whose initials name the genre.

Luciana is a biologist, a doctor in environmental education and a professor at UNILA, and is at the forefront of the structuring of the conscientiocentric institution that gave the lecture its name. The creation of the pre-IC Planetary Responsibility is in the Union of International Conscientiocentric Institutions (UNICIN). The volunteer group is implementing projects - such as the organization of a manual of planetary responsibility and parapsychic dynamics - and looking for resources to fit the institution financially.

Although the lecture did not focus directly on Conscientiology, Luciana did an interlocution of the theme with science, using terms such as 'evolutionary colleagues', 'cosmivision', 'megafraternity' and 'evolutionary dynamics'. "I would like to have done the lecture totally within the consciential paradigm, but since the organizers make an evaluation before putting it on the platform, considering content framed as pseudo-science or apo- logetic, I preferred not to be so explicit," says Luciana.

Lecture was based on the pillar of action of IC

Conscientiology has already been invited to integrate a transmission of this genre. It was in 2013, when Professor Waldo Vieira participated in TEDxAvCataratas, with a recorded video about 'Cognópolis, Conscientiology and the principle of disbelief'. The video of the lecture on planetary responsibility is being evaluated by US organizers and should be released on TED channels in about 30 days.

Release

Calepino Conscientiológico brings 'notes' by Cezar Cordioli

 Rosane Amadori  Press Release

By definition, Calepino Conscientiológico is the notebook or book of notes of the scholar of Conscientiology. And it is the notes of three decades of the researcher Cesar Cordioli that the book of the same name brings.

Launched on April 13, the work has 1,222 pages and its impression resembles the treatises written by Waldo Vieira. In numbers, the Calepino has 6,727 records, divided between author's entries (2,698), records of written sources (2,026) and records of oral sources (2,003).

"I became a volunteer in February of 1988 and I have always been writing things down. But I started the most serious research in 2005. Since then, until January 2016, I typed all the personal notes on the computer and said all the works of Conscientiology published until that period," says Cordioli.

The material yielded 137 different files, the book being the publication of only one of them, containing the most extensive reasoning and annotations. "In short, it's the best I've seen and heard in Conscientiology in those 30 years," he sums up.

The other archives, among them megathosenes, phrases, paradoxes, non-existences, proportions and principles, will generate other works to be published in the future, as the author told the audience present at the official event held at Hotel Mabu Interludium. The release also had Mentalsomatic Circle on the theme.

Cordioli notes the material that will still be published, which he considers to be valuable in tertulias. On the back cover, the author contextualizes the book in relation to the current movement of science. "We are a generation of transition between the knowledge brought in the foundations of Conscientiology, especially by Professor Waldo Vieira, and what this science will become from now on," he says.

HAPPENING

↙ A broad and open debate took place in the Conscientiological Areopagus on April 13, resulting in the formation of a provisional committee to act in the reactivation of the Council of the 500. Although not a deliberative body, the debate contributed to the formation of a commission responsible for promoting the theme in the Cognopolis. This edition of the Areopagus counted on 61 participants.

↙ The International Association of Existential Programming (APEX) opens another space for debates at the ICCC on 13 May. It is the Conscientiological Ideagora, an open initiative that will promote debates on controversial themes, everyday events approached from the point of view of conscientiology and questionologies. The initiative will also have a study of parapsychic cases and guests of socin, among other attractions. It will be a regular activity, which will take place every Monday at 7pm at the CEAEC.

↙ The International Association for Evolution of Consciousness (ARACÊ) celebrated its 18th anniversary with the One Day event at Cognópolis Pedra Azul, on April 6, 2019. The activities began on Friday, April 5, with a cocktail party for supporters and partners who did not know the institution. On Saturday, there was a walk in the trails, a visit to the nursery, reading and a bazaar of utility, among other actions, being the technique of relaxation, the most sought after. Rádio FMZ, Jornal Noticiário and the site Montanhas Capixabas gave wide coverage to the event. Faced with the perceptible sense of integration with the community, Aracê scheduled another day of Cognópolis, for September of this year.
