Editares: 15 years publishing gescons

 Rosane Amadori  Editares

Expansion of retail sales channels, possibility of publication without cost to the author and forecast of more than 30 works published this year alone. These are some of the reasons to celebrate the 15 years of activities of Editares, the conscientiology publisher, that was completed on October 23rd, 2019.

The anniversary coincides with the closure of the management of the coordinators, Guilherme Kunz and Flávio Camargo, two years ahead of the institution. The increase in the number of volunteers and consequent greater agility in the publication of gescons is also a reason for celebration, in the coordinators' evaluation.

Created to support consciential gestations, the publisher has expanded the reach of works by partnering with major book distribution channels such as Amazon (global distribution) and Bookshelf. Internet channels are added to physical retail outlets such as the Epígrafe and Kunda bookstores in Foz do Iguaçu, the IIPC educational centers and other partner bookstores such as Saraiva, Curitiba Bookstores and Cultura, paving the way for the verpons to propagate.

The possibility of publishing at zero cost to the author was made possible thanks to the print on demand system, whereby prints are made in smaller and continuous batches. This is only possible due to Publisher support, as all editing, proofreading and layout work is done by volunteers.

Currently, the group is made up of about 15 volunteers and has the collaboration of dozens of experts who assist in the review of the works. "It's a small group of volunteers who work hard to keep up with the growing flow of publications. The forecast is to reach more than 30 publications this year alone, including the re-editions of Projectology and the Orthothoughts Lexicon, which involves a lot of work," emphasizes Guilherme Kunz.

Another highlight is the foreign language releases. Due to the expansion of conscientiology, there was an increase in the demand for publication in several languages. Just last year Editares published 8 books in a foreign language, a work carried out in partnership with volunteers of ISIC (Interassistant Services for the Internationalization of Conscientiology).

The good moment of the publisher is reflected in the financial self-sustainability, a condition initiated in the previous management and maintained by the current coordinators, which allows Editares to publish new editions and reprints of sold out works.

"Editares is related to the entire community, so we seek to improve services for the reader and the authors. There is a constant attention for the quality of the works, which turns out to be a great learning experience", evaluates Flavio Camargo, adding 16 years of conscientiological volunteering, where he was coordinator of the educational center and financial center of IIPC (International Institute of Projectology and Conscientiology) headquarters

Guilherme Kunz lived the experience of being an author and editor of Editares, before assuming the coordination. "It is a process of growing responsibility. Leadership in such an important area for the ICC, it requires a lot of attention. I think everyone should have the experience of coordinating CIs", he says.

First Conscientiotherapy Campus turns 10 years old

Nerli Vieira OIC

On October 10, the Campus of the International Organization of Conscientiotherapy completes 10 years of foundation in the city of Foz do Iguaçu. "The existence of its own headquarters contributes to fix the holothosene of Conscientiotherapy in the planetary scope, creates conditions for the assistantial work of the institution to be accomplished, bringing together volunteers and researchers interested in the development of the Conscientiotherapeuticology specialty and in the application of clinical heteroconscientiotherapy, in individual care or in group", says the psychologist and coordinator of the institution, Giuliano Derrosso.

The opening of the campus was the result of the efforts of several volunteers, students (evoluitos) and teachers (conscientiotherapists), who helped to materialize the first Campus of conscientiotherapy on the planet. "The history of conscientiotherapy comes from 24 years. It gained new structure and strength 16 years ago with the formation of the OIC. But it was 10 years ago, with the inauguration of the campus, that this science, so important for interassistance and for the directions of Conscientiology, was based on solid, firm and consistent foundations, allowing the progressive optimization and qualification of assistantial work", explains the physician Francisco Carvalho, one of the coordinators of the OIC.

The campus now has a large structure, including clinical area, Evolutarium for individual and group services, administrative, reception and social area, auditorium with capacity for 200 people, as well as residences and a conscientiological condominium. Among the OIC Campus expansion projects, it is planned the construction of conscientiotherapy laboratories, the creation of gardens and trails for therapeutic promenades and a new clinical area, among others.

Giuliano recalls that one of the first steps towards building the headquarters was the ECP3 Pro-Campus Course, in 2005, which made it possible to raise funds for the acquisition of land in the Cognópolis neighborhood and to start the physical structures. The following year, on February 21, 2006, the cornerstone of Campus construction was laid. From that moment on the discussions of the architectural projects began and construction began on February 21, 2007, extending until the inauguration of the Campus in 2009.

"In these 10 years we have registered our gratitude to all the conscins and consciexes that are part of the history of the OIC and have dedicated themselves and are dedicated to making reality the first Campus of Conscientiotherapy on the planet", says OIC coordinator, Giuliano Derrosso.

New bust makes up Alley of Genius: Solon of Athens

Nerli Vieira Dagoberto Cunha

"Give friends not the nicest advice, but the most helpful," is one of Solon of Athens's many wise statements, the bust of which is decorating the Tertularium Amphitheater at the Center for High Studies of Conscientiology. One of the founders of Athenian Democracy, Solon had his bust proposed by volunteer Dagoberto Cunha, coordinator of the Alley of Geniuses of Humanity of CEAEC. "When I took up this volunteer work, I considered proposing to expose a bust to understand how this process works," said the coordinator.

And the personality researched and chosen by Dagoberto lived between the years 638 and 558 a.e.c. in Athens, Greece. Of noble origin, but of impoverished family, Solon devoted himself to commerce, but gained notoriety by leading the Athenians in the resumption of Salamis, acting with firmness, moderation, wisdom and integrity. He became Legislator, Jurist, Lyric Poet, and Statesman, known as one of the Seven Sages of Greece, along with his contemporary Tales of Miletus, with whom he maintained a bond of friendship.

Reconciling by nature, Solon laid the foundation for the establishment of democracy in Athens, gave workers the right to vote, amnesty to peasants' debts, abolished the mortgage on people and property, and imposed limits on the extension of agrarian properties, diminishing nobility's arbitrariness.

At Solon's initiative, in the 6th century b.c.e., the best-known of the boula was that of ancient Athens, also known as the Council of Five Hundred, chosen annually by a raffle of free men over 30 years old, called bulentas. Until then, in Athens it was called bulé the Council of Areopagus.

Solon's bust will join Alley's 174 busts as soon as the pedestals are ready.

According to Dagoberto, another bust is in the evaluation phase of the proposal. "There was a volunteer who read the article in issue 224 of Jornal da Cognópolis, which explains how to propose names of personalities, and proposed a personality."

The Alley is open for visitation and more information can be obtained by e-mail at:

Commission encourages international integration

 Nerli Vieira  Unicin

The Commission for International Integration makes movement to create the integrated agenda of international events. "This move aims to converge efforts between CIs to achieve better results and to have broader scope of actions aimed at accessing intermissivists abroad," explains Virginia.

Created in 2018 at the initiative of the Council of CIs, with the objective of mobilizing the Conscientiocentric Institutions for the expansion of Conscientiology in the world, the team meets on the last Sunday of each month, from 3 pm to 5 pm, in order to provide the opportunity to unite volunteers. CIs and Pre-CIs that operate internationally.

The commission is coordinated by Virginia Ruiz (Apex and Pre-IC ISIC) and Julio Garcia (Unicin) and, from 2019, was approved by the IC Council to prioritize the promotion of international integration. Executive in nature, it acts from the demands brought by its members and seeks to elaborate projects and actions that are submitted to the Council of CIs. "In practical terms, the commission seeks to discuss, study and enable solutions for the CIs themselves to promote their goals and expertise, often with partnerships that broaden their reach," adds Júlio Garcia.

Among the challenges of the commission are the international integrated agenda, in order to facilitate access to information and location of on-site and online events, as well as the definition of strategies for the sustainability of international events, projects and structures.

Editares publishes 2nd. edition of the Orthothoughts Lexicon

 Denise Paro  Editares

Waldo Vieira's masterpiece, the Orthothoughts Lexicon has just been published by Editares and brings new ideas from the author. In this revised and expanded second edition, the book has three volumes and 25,183 orthothoughts, a total of 4,383 more than the previous two-volume edition.

With a circulation of 1,000 copies, the work has 2,084 pages and 7,518 entries from letters A to Z, of which 1,042 are original. The unpublished orthothoughts are inserted throughout the 3 volumes. The Lexicon was the last book written by Waldo Vieira, before his resoma, in July 2015.

The publisher responsible for the Lexicon, Professor Everton Santos says that the content of this edition highlights the expansion of the concepts of conscientiology. "Doctor Waldo examines the concepts from different, complementary and surprising angles, developing, detailing and deepening the approaches. It also innovates by exposing unpublished ideas not presented in previous publications. The unpublished content represents the synthesis of the author's self-thosenity," he explains.

The first edition of the Orthothoughts Lexicon was launched in 2014 with a circulation of 4,000 copies, of which 2,500 refer to the free edition. After publishing the first two volumes, Waldo Vieira continued writing the work in order to update it constantly. "The Orthothoughts Lexicon was an ongoing work, he intended to continue writing it as long as he lived," says Everton.

The author's intention, as recorded in the book itself, is to consult the work in the next intraphysical life when he is 11 years old biologically, applying the concept of Evolutionary Self-relay.

Orthothought. "Orthothought is the very thought of consciousness. Orthothought is the most straight, right, correct, normal, fair, up and direct thinking," says Waldo Vieira in the book's introduction.

The Lexicon gathers synthesis of the phrases, sentences and megathosenes of the works published by the author and unpublished originals. Hundreds of the orthothoughts are the result of the debates held in the morning mini-tertulias epicentered daily by Vieira.

The intention of the work, the author demonstrates in the introduction, is to achieve the self-reflections of veteran intermissivists interested in pre-intermissiology. "This is my book of conscientiological, human and parapsychic self-living, from the angles of detail of conscientiological, abundant, multifarious, researched subjects that I have not yet addressed in other published works."
