The challenge of online assistance

 Nerli Vieira  Integrated Action Team

Conscientiology volunteers have had their face-to-face activities suspended for approximately 2 months. To overcome the difficulties of this shutdown, they face the challenge of putting institutional products online. Some of the conscientiocentric institutions already had courses in online format, others are facing this learning now.

However, if difficulties make physical presence unfeasible, they do not interrupt paraphysical interactions and, much less, the joining of forces: online meetings now have more participants than the face-to-face meetings and an Integrated Action Commission formed by the conscientiological community leaders was created, which resulted in a series of Conscientiology Courses for the Interassistential Fund. All instructors and students are invited to embrace this campaign to continue the task of group clarification.

Instructors William Klein and Ruy Bueno, from Reaprendentia, took the first course of this Integrated Action, on Sunday, March 29, adapting the Fundamentals of Self-Education - Thosenic Flexibility course, on Zoom and e-commerce platforms (Brazil and abroad). "I think that as important as responding to the moment of sustaining conscientiocentric institutions is to continue the interassistential pocket that conscientiology represents. It is clear that penta, which is an individual action of the intermissivist with group effect, is kept. But, when we stop the various field courses, the parapsychic dynamics and even the basic energy mobilization in the Conscientiology courses in general, we stop creating the homeostatic fields of assistance that are quite significant in scope. As soon as we can return to those fields, it will be a priority as an ICCC's very specific contribution to this planetary moment " explains the volunteer and founder of Reaprendentia, William Klein.

The second course took place on Sunday, April 5, with the theme Intermittent Paraidentity, by instructor Mabel Teles, author of the book Zéfiro. "I see that the fear of technology is being overcome. We lost physical proximity but we won because there are no online borders" says instructor Mabel Teles.

Málu Balona was the instructor of the third course on April 12, with the theme Self-healing Reconciliation. "This subject has been in the digital environment since 2009, the topic is as current and has practical application. Accessibility is the great asset that we currently have. It seemed that the space and environment of the course was preserved for access to the participants" highlighted the instructor.

Instructor Pedro Fernandes taught the fourth course, entitled Applied Parapsychic Lucidity, on April 19, and has included surveys to map first-time students, and also the country, the practice of penta and parapsychic self-diagnosis, among other measurements that were also applied by other instructors.

3 Evolutionary Futures, was the fifth course that took place on April 26th. "Being able to participate in the Interassistential Integrated Action initiative is a concrete opportunity to experience multidimensionally, in whatever role, the mixiproexological and group mobilization of volunteers, those assisted, helpers and evolutiologists in favor of a common goal, providing all those involved with a sense of belonging to something greater" says instructor Laênio Loche.

With simultaneous translation into English and Spanish, the courses series goes on. More information is available on the FanPage of the Cognopolis News, on the Conscientiology Portal and on the ICGE website.

Consecutivus improves the online structure

 Dayane Rossa  Consecutivus

Consecutivus managed to keep its instructors in online classrooms and the institution in full working order, following all recommended social isolation procedures, as it already has experience with distance education and automated enrollment system, since it has invested in distance activities since its foundation.

The institution's online teaching team started training and guiding the best practices to teachers and volunteers in general and, at the same time, also helped students used to face-to-face courses to connect in online classes.

The current goal is to review the recording of old courses, edit some classes to reuse those contents and resume our project of recording asynchronous courses related to the theme of Serieuxology.

The website, with a system for the student to enroll alone, was an initiative of instructor André Silva, in 2017, with a system for the management of students, events and financial controls that were previously entirely manual. In this optimized virtual environment, the recorded content and the course support material are still available to the student even after the end of the activity. In this way, the student is able to review the classes or watch the course at the time of their preference.

From 2018 on, face-to-face courses with simultaneous online broadcasts have increased significantly. In 2019, 90% of activities were mixed: in-person and online.

With the Covid-19 crisis, we maintained the same courses in distance learning model previously scheduled for 2020. However, it was necessary to postpone the Bioenergetic Field courses and the 2nd Mnemonic Gala Night4 to 2021.

The interruption of all face-to-face activities led the International Institute of Projectiology and Conscientiology to change routines and procedures, giving rise to the 'IIPC Digital'. A favorable point was the initial studies on Content Marketing started in September 2019 with pilot experimentation at the Education and Self-Research Center in Foz do Iguaçu.

Among the main changes of an emergency nature are the suspension of face-to-face events such as courses, lectures, ECP1, ECP2, the Volunteer Meeting and the radio program Evolutionary Chat. There was a 2/3 reduction in expenses and the development of online products such as Lives, the Course 'Projection of the Consciousness - Learn How to Leave the Body with Lucidity' and also the study marathon of the book Homo sapiens reurbanisatus. The Online Projectiology Course continued with the existing program. The courses 'Online Assitantiology' and 'Online Pacifismology' are in the final stages of preparation.

The institution's greatest asset, the volunteers, formed work teams in the various Self-Research Educational Centers, working in transmissions, management of social networks, design, sales and digital welcoming, among other needs of the digital environment. Information Technology, Planning and Customer Relationship Management tools were also incorporated at this stage.

It was also necessary to restructure the routines and operational procedures, seeking to include all volunteers and adapt to new ways of working and acting, mainly the instructors, who started to teach classes from their homes.

All those changes are being accompanied by numerous virtual meetings, where every detail and emerging need is discussed, studied and possible solutions tested, many of them original and innovative. In this new stage of its history, the slogan 'We're All IIPC' is much more true.

Epígrafe publications in press

 Ernani Brito  Epígrafe

During the phase of social distancing due to the Covid-19 pandemic, Epígrafe's editorial production continues in full swing. Launches are being postponed until the situation is more favorable for face-to-face activities, but online sales through Shopcons are proceeding normally. "New gescons are underway, currently under review and layout, some publications in partnership with the CIs, in addition to other editions with the Epígrafe seal. News will be released soon "informs publisher Ernani Brito.

AIEC completes a decade and a half

 Nertli Vieira  AIEC

April 22 was a significant date for the conscientiological community: 15th anniversary of the Association for the Expansion of Conscientiology! Over a decade and a half AIEC contributed to materialize the Cognopolis Foz. "From the proposal of the decree that created the neighborhood, through the intermediation and acquisition of more than one million square meters in the region, considering that Bairro Cognópolis has 7 million and Conscientiology holds 25% of the size of this neighborhood, AIEC intermediated the acquisition of this entire area that made possible the installation and construction of the headquarters of several conscientio-centric institutions, such as the OIC, Assinvéxis, Reaprendentia and AIEC itself "explains AIEC coordinator Cesar Cordioli.

AIEC's expansion work is materialized in the construction of the Vila Conscientia Asa Norte and Asa Sul Condominiums, Residential Integração and the Vila Floratta land division. A striking point was the construction of the Tertularium and the gallery Alley of Geniuses, at CEAEC. The institution also has the responsibility for the administration of the Discernimentum pole, which houses several CIs. It created Rádio RCI and TV Cognopolis that work uninterruptedly with relevant contents of the sciences Projectiology and Conscientiology.

One of the projects materialized and which is not yet fully paid, the Hotel Mabu Interludium, is closed due to a municipal decree at this time of the Covid-19 pandemic. "Our effort is not to burden the ICCC with the losses of the stopped hotel. As soon as the pandemic calms down, we will need to start the hotel in order to function", highlights Cesar.

The institution, which currently has 25 volunteers, continues to seek solutions to overcome difficulties and continue projects: "We are dealing with the approval of two new land subdivisions in the municipality of Foz to pay debts and raise funds" says the coordinator. "We were working with planning to start in 2021 the current project of the Holotheca Megacultural Center. Now with this pandemic, maybe it is set for 2022. But our intention is to get started as soon as possible "he adds.

The Conscientiological Calepinus is the educational activity of the institution that completed 3 years. In the form of a debate, it registered a record of 148 people participating simultaneously online in March. With access to the material available on facebook, the average number of participants is 2716 people watching each event. Up to edition 143 on 15/12/2019, it achieved the mark of 321,946 people reached.

Juriscons' first five years

 Nertli Vieira  Rodrigo dos Remedios

The International Association of Pararight celebrated its 5 years on April 25, online. There was a Mentalsomatic Circle on Holokarmality and Pararight in the morning, and in the afternoon, a 'Libertarian Circle' with the volunteers, to socialize.

The coordinator of the institution, lawyer Márcia Ramm, informs that Juriscons has 45 volunteers and has 2 dynamics in Foz do Iguaçu: the Parapsychic Dynamics of Paralawlogy, Peace and Paracosmopolitism, and the Parapsychic Dynamics of Megafraternology, which also occurs monthly in São Paulo. It also holds Web-Conferences every 15 days and the Paralawlogical Conduct Workshops, online, monthly. It recently created the Megafraternology Theorice Course which aims to guide the performance of the Code of Personal Cosmoethics, the CPC. "It aims to make people understand that this code is for themselves and for everyone who wants to qualify. It starts with the ego and then harmonizes or ignites, depending on a more cosmoethical and fairer stance or not "explains Márcia.

During the Covid-19 Pandemic, the institution has been assisting Conscientiology volunteers, through the Parajuridic Consultancy: a free service that aims to clarify the best practices for day-to-day conflicts, considering Paralawlogy principles.

More information on this service and activities can be obtained on the website www.juriscons.org or on WhatsApp +55 (45) 99111-6263.

HAPPENING

From issue #232 on, the Cognopolis Newsletter has ceased to be printed because the printers shops are closed. Maintaining a commitment to the editorial line focused on information about the facts and parafacts that are occurring in the conscientiological community, including their repercussions, "we will continue to inform the efforts of each volunteer and conscientiocentric institution to overcome this social isolation, but not parasocial, contributing to the historical record of the development of science Conscientiology, with maximum interassistance "highlights one of the newsletter's coordinators, Gelson Oliveira.

Conscious coordinator Áurea Andriolo points out that the institution already had several online courses before the current crisis. Among them is the Conscientiometry of Authenticity Distance Learning course, which provides subsidies for conscientiometry in 3 weekly classes, with a class starting on May 19 on Tuesdays, in the evening; the 7-month Online Conscientiogram without Drama Course, in which the person fills in all the questions in the Conscientiogram book and comes out with their conscientimetric graph; the Theorice Course in Interassistential Conscientiometry which also aims to serve the public in other countries, in which the student concludes the course with their self-conscientimetric map. Most have classes starting in May and the Online Anti-Victimization Conscientiometry Course is scheduled to start in late June. Find out more by visiting the website: www.conscious.org.br

The International Association of Conscientiology for Childhood has just launched the Course Dialogues on Our Evolution, without prerequisites, based on the book by prof. Waldo Vieira, divided into 5 didactic modules to present the consciousness evolutionary cycle with language aimed at pre-adolescents from 13 years old on, and to parents as well. On a virtual platform, classes will take place on Sundays in the morning, from 10 am to 12 pm, in which the instructors will interact with the class, which is geared to the whole family. Isolation as an opportunity to expand connections. Indeed: although it may sound like a paradox, the phrase reflects much of the movement that we have felt in the activities carried out at CEAEC during the pandemic period. The moment, although delicate, provided a series of important actions to further qualify the assistance we carry out on the campus. An example of that is the study of the use of technologies as a way to promote the opening of dialogue and cutting-edge clarifications. In a group challenge and in synergy with the other conscientiocentric institutions, we feel challenged to update ourselves on the technological resources available so that adaptation into the digital sphere is possible. Another point to be considered - and here placed in the same order of importance in relation to the necessary adaptations for distance learning to be made viable - is the care so that our content generation is based on concepts that promote the humanization of Science. In practice, this means deconstructing the idea that science needs to be 'cold' and/or 'distant' to be respected. In a gradual movement and with the contribution of all volunteers, we have reaped good results from the promotion of a more empathetic posture, which puts the researcher on the front line in the call for more intermissivists.
