Holocycle

The Holocycle, a department of the Center for High Studies in Conscientiology (CEAEC) specialized in the intellectual production of Conscientiology, celebrates two decades on July 11th. From this incubator of verpons, collective gescons were born, such as: Homo sapiens reurbanisatus (2003), Encyclopedia of Conscientiology (2006–), Homo sapiens pacificus (2007) and the Dictionary of Neologisms of Con-scientiology (2014), among others.

To mark the date, in May a campaign was launched on social networks with weekly posts of videos recorded with volunteers' reports. Other planned actions are the publication of an ebook with a summary of the history of the Holocycle and the volunteers' experiences, and the presentation of the verbet History of the Holocycle, on July 11, authored by Professor Cristiane Ferraro, coordinator of the department.

For 15 years, the Holocycle functioned as a working office for Dr. Waldo Vieira and has been the stage for the reception of supportive and intermissivist consci-exes, in addition to volunteer conscins, tourists, school and college students.

This research laboratory has been the source of countless records: that of migrant volunteers to Foz do Iguaçu; the list of book authors, conscientiological or not; and CEAEC's Scores, along with the Holothecca, with numbers from the theca collection. Other activities of the Holocycle involve the registration and systematization of the International Bibliography of Conscientiology and the organization of the International Library of Conscientiology with all books, periodicals and conscientiological dissemination materials, among other works.

The collection has been growing since 2000, when it had 1,600 dictionaries and encyclopedias; today, there are already a total of 7,428 lexicons. In the Holocycle there is still the largest collection of CEAEC's knowledge artifacts, the Newspaper Library, with 608,781 news clippings from newspapers and magazines, in addition to materials collected on the internet.

Future projects: Digital Newspaper Library

One of the Holocycle's projects in progress is that of the Digital Newspaper Library aimed at digitizing the collection of news clippings or 'cosmograms', in order to enable a faster search for keywords. Digitization also works as a backup of the collection over time, as the clippings of newsprint tend to degrade over the years.

In addition to digitization, bibliographic records of newspaper and magazine articles will be made, following the standard of the Specific Exhaustive Bibliography (SEB), used in the Encyclopedia of Conscientiology. In 2017, the filing and revision of the clippings collection files started in a more systematic way. Filing is a mentalsomatic activity that develops attributes such as detailism, attention, mental concentration and exhaustiveness, in addition to helping in the domain of psychomotricity. The digitization of the file, along with the clipping of news, will greatly facilitate the search and use of these references in the gesconographic productions of the ICCC researchers.

In 2018, a methodology was defined that seeks to integrate workflows in a systematic way, in which the activities of filing reviewing, digitalization of cosmograms and file typing converge in order to form a consistent database.

The digitization of the collection began in December 2018 with the arrival of equipment, but as the volume of 'cosmograms' is large (more than 600 thousand), more volunteers are needed for the project.

Interassistential Fund: financial support in times of pandemic

The Commission for Integrated Action of the ICCC proposes the formation of a financial fund to support the CIs during the suspension period of on-site activities

Integrated Action Team

In an articulated action among all CIs, in March, the Integrated Action Commission was created, with specialists from the International Cosmoethical Conscientiological Community, to analyze the current scenario and present proposals that help CIs to overcome the pandemic period with minimal impact, and also make it possible to expand Conscientiology activities and projects.

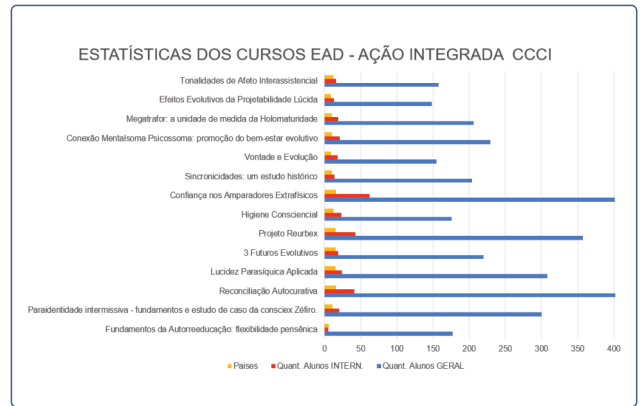

Operating on aligned fronts, the Technology, Communication and Finance teams have been analyzing the internal and external scenarios in order to propose solutions for structuring the digital platform, strengthening communication with intermissivists, managing expenses, generating revenues and sharing resources.

The 1st action mobilized the entire

ICCC: holding suprainstitutional courses based on research by veteran Conscientiology instructors to foster the formation of the Interassistential Fund - financial reserve to support the CIs during the suspension of face-to-face activities.

The Interassistential Fund will be made available to the requesting CIs, with priority being given to maintaining ICCC's assets and suprainstitutional projects (Holo-cycle, Holotheca, Tertularium and Conscientiological Campi); payment of common expenses of CIs (Property Security and Internet); payment of current CI expenses (electricity, employees, suppliers).

The success in the formation of the Interassistential Fund is due to the synergism among the axes of integrated action and the engagement of the CI's work, from the proposition of themes, availability of instructors, dissemination work, support of transmissions and participation of students in the realization of the course. And many new features are yet to come in this convergent group mega-effort.

First Meeting of IIPC Volunteers 100% online

Hilton Gunça IIPC

The International Institute of Projectiology and Conscientiology held, from June 11 to 14, 2020, the 12th International Meeting of Volunteers, for the first time, 100% online. The invitation phrase "Come and connect" and the material "Together Designing the Future" led to a record 468 subscribers, more than 50% of their volunteers, who were able to participate in different parts of Brazil, in addition to Argentina, Portugal and Germany.

Held since 2009, this meeting of the IIPC group maxiproaxis aims to exchange experiences, qualify, analyze the results and plan the main institutional projects. The first online meeting took place in the third month of the crisis, the institution's turning point, from face-to-face to digital. The event was organized in 10 periods, with activities lasting 2 hours each, in the three shifts (morning, afternoon and night). The teams from the Conscientiocentrology of the IIPC Headquarters, the Self-Research Educational Centers and the Extension Centers participated in the organization, supported by other areas of the institution.

structured with: 2 Short Courses, Evolutionary Panel Program, the dissemination of the 24 selected articles and the names of the national and international speakers confirmed for the 6th CIPRO, invited speakers, Fernando Barbaresco, from the "Friends of the Encyclopedia Program" and Cesar Cordioli addressing the theme "Large Volunteering and Evolutionary Entrepreneurship" and the presentation of IIPC-Headquarters areas with current projects.

The variety of educational resources, such as the online survey that highlighted the feelings of 'joy and gratitude' of the volunteers, for feeling the pleasure of being together in this happy adaptation to the engagement of new verbetographers and the 'virtual congratulations' for the June birthdays, left the event participatory, inclusive and favored the atmosphere of a lot of fraternity. The participation of volunteer Tenile Vicenzi, specialist in organizational consultancy and the use of computer tools such as Zoom, Padlet, Mentimeter and Eventbrite made the meeting dynamic and productive. The 13th will be from 03 to 06 June 2021.

The next 100% digital event will be the 6th CIPRO - International Congress of Projectiology, to be held from 13 to 15 November 2020, with the theme "Lucid Projection: Self-Knowledge and Consciential

Austria: a great opportunity for assistance

"You have to leave the house to understand how important it is to come back to assist"

 Cyntia Braga  Melanie Messner

The above sentence, from my point of view, was the great message of Melanie Messner in her lecture on Austria, at The Bridge - Cultures in May. Born in the capital, Vienna, Melanie traced a brilliant panorama of the history of that country, with its Celtic and Roman roots, the long domination of the Habsburgs dynasty for centuries, the country's participation in the two great world wars, until the declaration of its independence in 1945 and entering the European Union in 1995.

As a native of that region, Melanie can score the main strongtraits and weaktraits, in addition to the Austrian holothosene. Courageous, enterprising and eloquent, they are assistantial people, who like to help. They express their emotions and are open-minded about parapsychic phenomena, but on the other hand, they are extremely religious and superstitious, as well as very emotional. They are conservatives, traditionalists, attached to the heritage of their noble roots. They live in the atmosphere of the glories of the past; they are proud and maintain the aura of the great empires.

For many years, Melanie has been enveloped in all that culture, atmosphere and traditions. As 90% of families are extremely religious, so is hers. Religion, attachment to traditions, but, mainly, racism and xenophobia were the big hooks for Melanie to realize that this was not her place. "The religious holothosene is oppressive there, and the widespread acceptance of xenophobia and racism hurt my principles," says Melanie. It was then that, in 2011, she moved to Finland and there she had contact with Conscientiology.

Melanie had her first consciential projection between the ages of 15 and 16, when she found himself out of the body. That, according to her, changed her life and, since then, she started to research phenomena and projective techniques alone. From 2012 on, in Finland, she participated in some conscientiology courses and joined volunteering. In 2019, as a teacher, Melanie presented a workshop on Bioenergies in Southern Vienna, in a location very close to where she was born. At that moment she could see that many people in her old circle, as well as family members and relatives, had a real interest in those matters and wanted to know more. "All these people around me, living close to me, with all that interest, and I never knew," says Melanie, happy to be able to clarify and bring technical knowledge to a community as superstitious and religious as that of Austria.

Another important point highlighted by Melanie refers to the synchronicity involving the purchase of the area where today is the Discernimentum and its region, in Austria. Franz Kollenberger, the Austrian who sold the land to Conscientiology, asked for the preservation of a small chapel he built, the clock tower. The synchronicity that Melanie refers to is that the original clock tower, from Austria, is very close to where she lived and held her lectures and workshops.

At the end of her lecture, Melanie re-reflected on Austria being a country that needs a lot of assistance, mainly because it has a pattern of manifestation focused on the psychosome, and because it needs to qualify traits related to religion, racism and xenophobia. "The holothosene of war, religion and tradition is very strong and present in people's daily lives, which shapes their character. This all makes it difficult for people to seek new ideas, new mindsets for themselves, because of these karmic debts of the past", she concludes. For Melanie, not only Austria, but the whole of Europe, has a key role in the extraphysical reurbanization of the planet.

HAPPENING

➤ Parareurbanology e Megarecyclings will be the theme of the Integrated Action course on July 12, with the objective of presenting the view of the Parareurbanology specialty, a methodology for studying extraphysical reurbanization, and to raise hypotheses based on the reading of current global scenario indicators. The course Parareurbanology e Megarecyclings - Case study of the world scenario, by instructors Aline Bittencourt and Alexandre Balthazar, aims to alert to some questions, for example: could we make correlations between the reurbex underway on the planet and the current pandemic? What positive aspects can be observed as a legacy of the current situation that the planet is going through? Can prolonged social isolation lead people to recycling or even countries to collective megarecycling? Are you, as intermissivist, have you acted as a balance point in the current global crisis scenario? The analysis of those and other reflections contributes to broaden the understanding of the very specific role of the ICCC, Cognópolis Foz and future Cognópolis in the future scenario of planet Earth.

➤ In June, Projections of the Consciousness - Audiobook Introduction was made available, a production by Comunicons launched by Editares. The Portuguese audiobook Projeções da Consciência had already been launched in 2012, narrated by broadcaster Luis Henrique Scheffer (in memoriam), with the voice of journalist Bianca Portela and the participation of many other volunteers. The English language production had the voice of Jaclyn Cowen, sound and editing engineering by Francisco Mauro and Gustavo Henrique; Alexander Catala was the speaker of the preface and Tatyanna Von Pannwitz, the speaker of the glossary. The audio of the classic work Projections of Consciousness, authored by Waldo Vieira, released in 1981 in Portuguese; in English and Spanish in 1995, expands its audience, creating the opportunity for the visually impaired to experience the range of experiences that a person can have

In the June edition, we opted to dedicate the space for CEAEC in Cognopolis News to our two great intermissivist friends who desomated earlier this month. Over the past few weeks, we have made some publications that strengthen the acknowledgement of all CEAEC volunteers and collaborators for the unique contribution that Phelipe Abib Mansur and João Ricardo Schneider made to the expansion of Science Conscientiology on planet Earth.

Innate leader and author of the consciential work Evolutionary Entrepreneurship, Phelipe was at the head of CEAEC's management from 2011 to 2013. His administration was marked by a series of improvements that made our spaces even more welcoming and inviting: for example, the construction of the Auditorium, the expansion of the Holothecca, the coverage of the Alley of the Geniuses, the pavement and organization of the parking lot, among others.

João Ricardo Schneider also has a marked path in conscientiological volunteering. He leaves his legacy to humanity with the work History of Parapsychism; a mandatory reading to any researcher interested in deepening multidimensional manifestation.

Phelipe Mansur and João Ricardo Schneider desomated on June 1st, in a car accident on BR 277. To the family, our energies of fraternal welcoming.

We took advantage of the space to register our solidarity with the family of Paulo Rogério da Cruz, who also desomated in the accident.
